This 3500-square-foot, million-dollar installation includes a 20-seat theater, an interactive “den,” and a custom-engineered audio experience room. The theater’s outfitted with a Dolby Atmos system, a 4K projector, motorized screen masking, and video-conferencing capability. The den features three HDTVs, one of which is in full view; the other two are concealed, one within furniture and the other behind a motorized panel of artwork. The audio room provides a broad range of listening experiences with 32 left/right speaker pairs, nine center channel options, six surround-sound pairs, 14 subwoofers, and a pair of Atmos speakers, all driven by a variety of amplification. There are numerous displays illustrating options for motorized shades, automated lighting, and user interfaces, and ten interactive displays are available for even more customer inspiration.
